

The Importance Of The Mooring Place In Context Of Yacht Insurance

Marinas play a significant role in the context of Yacht insurance for Türk P&I. Yacht insurance is designed to protect Yacht owners from a variety of risks and potential damages that can occur to their vessels. Marinas provide a safe and secure environment for Yacht owners to lay up their boats when they are not in use and play a significant role during the evaluation of the risk whilst providing Yacht insurance.

Here are a few reasons why professional managed Marinas are important for Yacht insurers:

1.Security

Marinas have security measures in place to prevent theft, vandalism and unauthorized access to boats. Türk P&I considers marinas to be safer locations compared to other docking options such as moorings or anchoring in open waters. The presence of security personnel, cameras and restricted access to the pontoons helps to minimize the risk of damage or theft.

2.Protection from natural disasters

Marinas are structured to provide protection from severe weather conditions such as storms. We assess the risk of damage caused by natural disasters when determining the risk of subject vessel. Marinas with well-built breakwaters or floating docks can reduce the risk of damage to yachts during extreme

3.Maintenance and repairs

Marinas offer a range of services such as maintenance, repairs and overhaul facilities. Regular maintenance and prompt repairs are essential for the longevity and seaworthiness of yachts which obviously reduces the risk of accidents or mechanical failures that could lead to Claims

4.Compliance with regulations

Marinas often have strict regulations and requirements to ensure the safety and environmental sustainability to Yacht owners. For us it is very important that Marinas enforce regulations related to fire safety, pollution prevention and other safety measures. Compliance with these regulations are reducing the risk of accident and Liabilities, which positively impacts on the insurance terms.

5.Liability coverage

Marinas require Yacht owners to carry liability insurance to protect the marina itself and other boat owners from potential damages caused by negligence or accidents. Türk P&I also offers specific liability coverage options tailored to protect owners from damages caused by the Yacht within marina premises.
